The Time To Get Busy

With the month of March drawing to a close Western Canada makes ready for that annual renewal of activities characteristic of the country. While all Canada is, broadly speaking, a country of seasonal occupations, this is especially true of the Western prairie provinces. In the East manufacturing proceeds throughout the year, but the greatest period of activity is in the summer. The men who labor in the lumber mills in the summer, disappear in the woods during the winter felling the trees to make summer operations in the mills possible. But even in the East the coming of Spring means the beginning of real activity.

Here in the West, with the exception of coal mining in Alberta, the coming of Spring is the signal not only for the commencement of farm operations, but for renewed building operations, the carrying forward of municipal works of all kinds, road building, railway construction—in a word, all those activities to which a step is put during winter weather.

It means the opening of navigation on Canada's lakes and rivers, the inauguration of the immigration rush, a veritable Rip Van Winkle awakening from the slumber of winter.

And with this great awakening at hand it behooves the people of Canada to resolve as individuals and as a nation to make the most of 1924. New Year's Day may fall on January 1, but Canada's real New Year's comes with the passing of winter and its more or less enforced idleness, and the advent of Spring with all its opportunities and possibilities.

The year presents itself as one full of promise. Business conditions throughout the Dominion have been steadily improving. Betterments have been recorded from month to month for some time past in Canadian trade returns, in bank clearings, in railway earnings, in the declining number of commercial failures, in all those things whereby we measure the material progress and welfare of a country. And the business barometer is raising; it indicates fair weather ahead.

Coupled with these favorable signs is a grim determination in evidence in all directions to "go easy" in the matter of immediately unnecessary expenditures and the accumulation of debt. The watchword in Canada today is "strict economy" consistent with efficiency and service. The popular demand is not for further large public expenditures, which means more debt, but retrenchment and debt reduction leading to lessened taxation.

These are all favorable symptoms in the body politic. But something more is required to provide that added impetus so essential to a real revival of productive activity throughout the whole Dominion. With the commencement of building operations each year, there crops up the question of wage schedule, hours and conditions of labor, etc., etc. After a winter of idleness, artisans and laborers under the direction of their Union leaders, make demands for the maintenance of wages at the old war-time peak. The miners ask for it, so do the lumbermen, and the transportation workers, and finally the artisan and laborer. The net result is that building costs are so high that construction works of all kinds are discouraged and abandoned because it becomes unprofitable for the man with money to invest to proceed.

Instead of the wheels of industry beginning to revolve and gather momentum as they should, they are clogged at outset; instead of employment becoming general, another period of almost winter stagnation ensues. Valuable time is lost and a month or more of our all too short building season is gone before anything worth while can be accomplished.

The workers are thus standing in their own light and sacrificing their own best interests. Acceptance of a somewhat lower and more reasonable wage in view of existing conditions would soon develop a situation where there would be steady employment for all; work would be available earlier in the year and with the volume of work started would continue later in the Fall. In the long run each man would earn more in the season through the additional length of time employed, while the number to be employed would be vastly increased.

As a result of the greater activity, larger sums of money would be placed in active circulation, all business would benefit, and, because of larger turn-overs by merchants, prices of necessities to the consumer would be lowered, thereby giving a greater purchasing power to the worker's day's pay and more than compensate for the fact that such pay was somewhat smaller than he was accustomed to demand.

The best interests of our people, and of Canada as a country demands that, with the opening of our annual season of activity, every person get to work just as quickly as possible and work with diligence and unswerving vigor until winter again steps in and cries a halt. What Canadians should aim at this year is not a minimum of working hours, but the full maximum of which they are capable consistent with proper protection of health and the unimpairment of their mental faculties and physical strength.

HOME TREATMENT SAFE AND EFFICIENT

Ailing People Made Strong By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do one thing, and do it well. They build up the blood, increasing the number of red corpuscles. As this is 80% the blood becomes a richer red and is able to carry more oxygen, the great supporter of human life. As the blood improves in quality the tissues of the body are better nourished and the functions of the body are better performed. This is the reason Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been so successful in the treatment of diseases due to poor, thin blood, and it is also the reason why they are so successful in building up strength after fevers and acute diseases. Among those who have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with great advantage is Mrs. Helen B. Taylor, Hanover, Ont., who says: "Not long ago I was critically ill. The trouble started with anaemia and a run-down system, and ended with pneumonia. I was confined to my bed for three months and three doctors were in attendance at different times. My life was despaired of, and I was practically living on doctors' medicine, because I could not eat. My friends did not expect me to recover. During my girlhood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had brought me through a severe attack of anaemia, and my mother urged that I should try them again. The doctor could not understand why we wanted to try these pills, but we decided to do so. After taking six boxes a decided change was taking place. I was actually getting hungry and anxious to live. After using twelve boxes a miracle was worked. I could walk and felt my strength coming back, and people of all sides were asking what was helping me, and we were not slow in telling them it was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. With my health fully restored through the use of these pills I am a striking example of what this wonderful medicine can do, and now I never see a pale or sickly-looking girl or woman that I do not feel like going up to her and asking why she does not take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cause of Asthma. No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to eradicate except through a cure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. A Health Secret

It is frequently claimed by physicians that nine-tenths of all human ills may be traced to neglect to keep the bowels regular and the liver and kidneys active.

The result is an accumulation of poisons in the system which cause pains and aches and give rise to such dreaded diseases as appendicitis, Bright's disease, diabetes, high blood pressure, etc.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the ideal regulators of these vital organs because they act directly on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and ensure a thorough cleansing of the system.

You will notice that while the price of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been advanced to 35 cents, the box now contains 35 pills instead of 25 as formerly.

Likewise Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is 50 cents a box of 60 pills, instead of 40 cents a box of 40 pills. Edman, Baker & Co. Ltd., Toronto.

CHAPTER II.

Mary Fraser, as she galloped away over the rolling hills carried away with her a vivid impression of the personality of the young man she had so unexpectedly met on the trail. The faded, worn and slouchy scout's uniform he wore, and other details of his accoutrements were taken in at a glance. His fair, open and handsome countenance and his self-reliant bearing appealed to her fancy. Though she had abruptly dismissed him, refusing his offered assistance, she still felt assured that she would meet him on her return home and would then make amends for her seeming rudeness. She was aware that it was not customary for strangers to pass their home, after a long day's journey, without being offered the hospitality of a night's lodging. Those transient travellers on many occasions, were welcomed at her home. They proved pleasing diversions from the general routine and monotony of the lonely lives those early pioneers have had to pass in a district remote from the more congenial advantages of more settled communities. Instead of those visits proving an inconvenience they were often the source of considerable social pleasure to them. As youth appeals to youth, she anticipated with pleasure the prospects of again meeting him on her return home. Her disposition craved the society of people of her own age, an advantage that she did not, only to a limited extent, enjoy in her lonely surroundings.

While she loved the freedom of the life she led among the hills, the valleys and the lakes, and the surrounding landscapes appealed to her aesthetic tastes, yet there was the yearning for companionship and the society of people of her own age and kind. In her day dreams she pictured to herself the pleasures of the life she missed—a life of more congenial human surroundings. A longing for that life—a life that seemed to be beyond her reach—at times became an obsession with her.

The prospects accordingly of a pleasant social evening with a young stranger from the "outside" added

MOTHER OF TWIN BOYS

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Her of Inflammation and Great Weakness

West St. John, N. B.—"I was in a general run-down condition following the birth of my twin boys. I had a great deal of inflammation, with pains and weakness. Finally my doctor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He said that your medicine would be the only thing to build me up. I am sure he is right, for I am feeling much better and am gaining in weight, having gone down to ninety-three pounds. I was in bed for over a month, but am up again now. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to my friends and give you permission to use my letter."—Mrs. ELLEN A. RITCHIE, 12 Rodney St., West St. John, N. B.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved these symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Ritchie's experience is but one of many.

buoyancy to her elated feelings, and, in her abstraction, she spurred her horse to greater speed as she proceeded in her quest for the horses.

It was this feeling of elation that was partly responsible for her failure to examine more closely her surroundings as she cantered in the direction of two horses that she noticed grazing close in to the edge of a bluff some distance away. Convinced that they were the horses she was in search of, she headed in that direction with an air of abstraction that made her practically oblivious of any danger that might be lurking in the vicinity.

As she rounded the edge of the bluff she was startled from her reverie by a hoarse command of, "Stop! Put up your hands." The suddenness of this order roused her at once to action. Her quick wits at a glance took in the situation, and convinced her of the futility of an attempt to escape or to offer resistance. All at once she seemed to be surrounded by a band of five men. Their forbidding aspects and pointing guns striking terror to her heart admitted of no temporizing action. She was approached by a dark complexioned, heavy built man, who seized her bridle rein and relieved her of her revolver. After a cursory examination of her horse and a close scrutiny of her face, he said, "Jump down young fellow, this is my horse you are riding."

Goaded to desperation by the hold-up and resenting the insolence of his looks and order, she answered, "No, sir; this is not your horse. You have no right to stop me in this way, nor interfere with me in any manner. The Mounted Police shall be notified of this insolent hold-up of me."

"The Mounted Police be d—d. We have a line on them gents, and they won't help you this time. Jump down or I'll pull you off."

Realizing that protest or resistance would be useless, and following the promptings of her feminine intuition, she passively yielded to inevitable necessity and dismounted as requested by him. After again looking into her face, he snatched off her hat. Then with an insolent leer on his face, he said, "I thought so." Quickly replacing it on her head, he said, loud enough for all to hear: "Young fellow, so that you will get put the d—d Red Coats on our track, you will come along with us to-night."

After his close scrutiny of her face she was conscious of the fact that he was aware of her sex. It was also clear to her that he desired to conceal his discovery from the rest of his companions. This added to her fear of the man, but still she decided, in the meantime, to submit to his orders. Her feminine intuition warned her that discreet silence would be her safest plan for the present. She had nothing to expect nor hope for from the other members of the gang, who seemed to be acting under his orders.

Taking a lariat from one of the saddles close at hand, he led her into the shelter of the bluff. First he searched her for any weapon she might have in her possession. He then fastened the loop end of the lariat round her waist and bound her securely to a birch tree. He, however, left both her hands and feet free with sufficient slack to her bonds to enable her to stand up or sit down as she desired. He warned her, however, that if she attempted to escape he would shoot her in her tracks, a threat she was fully convinced he would carry into effect. He himself holding the other end of the lariat, joined his companions, who were by now lounging on the ground a few feet away.

Securely fastened as she was she stood for some time leaning against the tree, and after a while sat down. As the twilight deepened she endeavored to evolve in her mind a plan of escape, but the more she thought of her situation the more hopeless her chances seemed to be. The only avenue of escape that presented itself to her was the hope that her father would organize a search party for her rescue, but as this would take some time to accomplish, it offered her small consolation. By the time assistance could be called by her father these bandits would have taken her many miles away from the scene of the hold-up. She also feared the danger that would attend an attempt at rescue. She realized that she was in the hands of desperadoes—men who would not hesitate to commit murder to escape capture. In her desperation she faced the tree to which she was tied, and leaning against it, uttered up a fervent silent prayer to God for help, courage and inspiration in her dangerous plight. As she thus prayed, her hand came in contact with an overhanging piece of loose birch bark. This she absently stripped off the tree, and, later, slipped it into the pocket of her jacket. Then turning around she sat down with her back against the tree for support.

A few feet away the men were engaged in conversation carried on in low voices. Listening intently to their conversation, she overheard them discussing their plans of escape to the south.

She learned that it was their intention to start on their trip as soon as it was dark. She further overheard that their objective for the first stage of their journey was a secret camping ground in the valley of the Souris. There they intended to remain in hiding during the next day and then shortly before daylight the next morning. At that hour they would make a dash across the United States boundary, when in the darkness of early morning, they were confident of escaping the vigilance of the Mounted Police, who, during the troublesome times of that year, kept a strict patrol along the boundary.

Inspired by the information overheard and deciding to make use of the shadow of the increasing darkness, she pulled out of her pocket the roll of birch bark. Then, with the stub of a pencil that she had in her pocket, she scribbled on its smooth surface a note, giving the gist of the plans of the outlaws. Replacing it into her pocket she decided to await an opportunity to drop it where it would be easily noticed by a rescue party.

Sitting there as the darkness deepened, her thoughts wandered back to her home. She thought that at that hour her mother, always solicitous of her safety, would be anxiously looking for her return. Slowly the tears crept down her cheeks as, more and more, she realized the anguish of her mother's heart at the unknown fate of her only child. There were not tears of self-pity, nor of fear, but of sorrow and sympathy for the father and mother, who were soon fated to realize the dangers that accompanied her. Bound and held captive as she was in the hands of the merciless bandits, she had not yet, however, abandoned hopes of escape or rescue. Her intuition and the buoyancy of youth kept up her spirits, and the dangers that threatened her only tended to sharpen her wits. With all her faculties alert to all that passed around her, she bravely faced the situation in which she found herself placed. Helpless as she seemed to be, she was still hopeful that an opening for escape would present itself to her. Thus she sat as the twilight of evening deepened into the darkness of night, and awaited the next move of her captors, whom she knew would soon be making a move for a start to the south.

When darkness had descended preparations were commenced for the start. She could not discern their actions in the darkness but, when the word was given, "All set," the leader approached her and loosened her bonds. He then ordered her to mount her horse. The fact that she was to have her own horse to ride gave her new hope, for, having confidence in his speed and training, she decided that if the slightest chance presented itself she would make a dash for liberty. All such hopes were, however, soon dispelled by the deliberate actions of her captor. No sooner was she in the saddle than he proceeded to fasten her feet to the saddle girth with one end of the lariat. He then put a centre hitch on it and tied it around the horse's neck, and passing the loop end of it through the bit rings, he fastened it to the horn of his own saddle. He then mounted his own horse and followed in the rear of the band, leading her horse beside his own.

Silently the band emerged from their hiding place, and struck over the hills in the direction of the plains to the south. Not a sound broke the stillness of the night, other than the muffled tramp of the horses on the prairie turf, as they gathered speed.

WESTERN PIONEER TELLS INTERESTING EXPERIENCE

Frank Rikert, Who Left Illinois For California In Covered Wagon In 1864, Wouldn't Take $100 For Bottle Of Tanlac.

Frank Rikert, well-known resident of North Sacramento, Cal., who came to the state from Illinois in a covered wagon in 1864, along with other hardy pioneers, recently exhibited a bottle of Tanlac, which he had just purchased, as a friend at his home and remarked: "If I thought this was the last bottle of Tanlac I would ever be able to buy, I wouldn't take one hundred dollars for it," thus proving the high valuation he places on the famous treatment.

"I believe, Tanlac really saved my life when I took it after the flu about a year ago," continued Mr. Rikert. "For the attack left me 20 pounds off in weight, and unable to turn over in my bed without assistance. I tell you, I thought my time had surely come."

"But, thanks to my wife's insistence, I kept on taking Tanlac till I was able to do all my work again, and back all my lost weight, and I've been feeling years younger ever since. I'm always telling my friends about Tanlac, and can't say too much for it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

and settled down to the characteristic lops of the western broncho. They had not proceeded far, however, when she heard another sound that thrilled her with new hope. Some distance in the rear the stillness of the night was broken by the voice of her father calling her name. No sooner had the re-echoing voice of her father died in the distance than she was cheered by an answering call. But, before she had time to collect herself, her escort was close beside her. Seizing her around the waist with his right arm, he clapped his left hand over her mouth, and, in a hoarse voice, warned her that if she made an outcry he would shoot to kill. Then, releasing his hold, he pulled his revolver and held it pressed against her side, while they covered the distance to the face hills.

ESTIMATES ARE REDUCED BY LARGE AMOUNT

Ottawa.—The estimates for the financial year 1924-25, presented to parliament by Hon. J. A. Robb, provide a total of $460,371,550, a reduction under the total amount of the main estimates for 1923-24 of $26,339,385, and a reduction of $46,371,715 under the total of main and supplementary estimates for 1923-24.

Practically every service shows a decrease. These reductions range in amount from a few thousands to $19,335,574 in railways and canals.

Interest on the public debt, which is provided for by statute, is estimated at $134,258,311, a reduction of $3,999,992 from the previous year. Expenses connected with loans and general administration of the debts show a decrease of $38,544.

For the first time in more than twenty years, says an official summary, the estimate for civil government, which provides for salaries of employees at Ottawa, has been reduced. The sums allotted to the departments have, in nearly every instance, been decreased from the amounts provided for 1923-24.

Civil government estimates show a total decrease of $345,754, despite the necessity to provide large sums to cover statutory salary increases. Large reductions are provided in the department of National Defence, $39,126; Interior, $14,244; Immigration, $35,050; Finance, $42,022; Marine and Fisheries, $24,940; Public Works, $10,440; Post Office, $18,930; Trade and Commerce, $50,546; Patent and Copyright, $34,270; and Labor, $18,294.

MRS. ROSE GRAM

SPARKLING EYES FOLLOW GOOD HEALTH

Toronto, Ont.—"From the time of my earliest girlhood I had always heard my mother speak in highest praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women's ailments, so it is not at all strange that after I married and had backaches, nervous spells and other distresses that I should remember what my mother had always said of this Prescription, and I found it relieved me of my aches, pains and nervousness. It gave me renewed health and strength and so greatly benefited me that I have no hesitancy in saying that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is absolutely perfect as a tonic and nerve for women who are ailing or nervous."—Mrs. Rose Gram, 207 Mackville St.

China Orders the Soviet Envoy to Leave

London.—The Chinese Government has ordered the Soviet envoy in Peking, I. M. Karakhan, to quit China, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Peking. The action was taken, the dispatch adds, because M. Karakhan's notes to the Chinese foreign office were insulting, one of them amounting to an ultimatum, it giving China three days to recognize the Soviet Government. The correspondent says the situation is tense.

Interferes With Immigration

Cattle Embargo May Have Effect of Keeping Settlers From U.S. Coming Here

Ottawa, Ont.—Immigration to Canada from United States, of which the promise is said to be considerable, is being interfered with by reason of the embargo against the importation of all animals from the States due to the outbreak of foot and mouth disease. It is reported here that the embargo is embarrassing a good number of farmers who had intended to come into the west, bringing their stock with them.

Departmental authorities will not relax the ban owing to the seriousness of the disease, but efforts are being made to induce intending settlers to leave their stock behind until the embargo is lifted, which it is hoped will be before the spring is far advanced.

The outbreak is still confined to California.

Saskatchewan Estimates

Amount of $1,440,000 Comes Under Appropriations

Regina.—Estimates aggregating $1,440,000 were passed by the Saskatchewan Legislative Assembly in committee of supply. Motions calling for reductions in the seasonal allowances to the Speaker and Deputy-Speaker of the house and in the salary of the clerk to the Executive Council (J. W. McLeod) were defeated.

Questions poured in on the attorney-general when the vote of $1,291,671 for his department was considered. Most of the questions were put by members seeking information as to what the various items included. The votes dealt with at the sittings were as follows: Legislation, $164,150; Executive Council, $74,572; Attorney-General, $1,291,671; Provincial Secretary, $39,360.

Alberta Legislature

Edmonton.—During the present session the agricultural committee of the legislature will hold an investigation into the economic conditions affecting the farmers, with the object of bettering conditions for "the man on the land," according to a proposal by A. E. Claypool (Farmer, Didsbury), introduced in the form of a resolution and which was adopted by unanimous vote.

Staff Officer to Help Ada Blackjack Battle.—Ada Blackjack, who survived the trials of life on Wrangell Island, north of Siberia, when four white men composing the remainder of an expedition led there by Allan Crawford, of Toronto, perished, but who was brought down by cannibals in this city received an offer of help from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer.

Mrs. Blackjack said the help would be acceptable, and that by means of it she hoped to return in the spring to her home in Nome, Alaska.

Toronto.—The Sanctuaries Research Foundation is now making an immediate public appeal for funds. This foundation was created in appeal to the public for support in making possible the continuance and prosecution of medical research work, and to stimulate the discovery and development of health. It has been organized by the School of the University of Toronto, and has as its objective, $200,000.

U. S. WOULD GAIN MUCH BY HELPING EUROPE

New York.—The United States will unquestionably feel the impulse to work for permanent peace in Europe, on which a large measure of her prosperity depends, and "will not leave Europe to stew in her own juice," Mr. James Howard, new ambassador of Great Britain to the United States, declared at the Pilgrim Society annual dinner.

Sir James preferred an appeal for co-operation in an effort to remove the seeds of armed international conflict, with a graphic reference to the devastation and common woe which, he said, was the aftermath of the great war. "Incredible as it might seem, he said, men still were to be found who preferred war to judicial peace."

"I cannot but believe that the United States will unquestionably feel the impulse to work in her own way and in her own time, for permanent peace in Europe, of which, to put it on no higher grounds, so much of her own prosperity depends," he continued, asserting it was axiomatic that the prosperity of the United States would be in ratio with the prosperity of all of Europe.

Will Investigate Old Age Pensions

Ottawa.—The old age pensions will be the subject of an investigation by a special committee of parliament this session, it was stated in the House in answer to a question. When the matter is settled between representatives of the employees and the board of directors, the government will provide legislative legislation.

Disasters in Japan

Submarine Sinks and Army Dirigible Catches Fire and is Destroyed

Sasebo, Japan.—The 300-ton submarine No. 52 of the Japanese navy, collided with the warship Tatsu, during manoeuvres and sank with four officers and forty men in 24 fathoms of water, ten miles outside Sasebo harbor. The submarine went down suddenly after the collision.

Tokyo.—A small dirigible caught fire and fell in Ibaraki Prefecture, northeast of Tokyo, killing the crew of five men. The body of the commander was the only one found, the other four probably having leaped from the blazing airship before it plunged into a forest.

Jury Disagrees

For Second Time in Abbe Delorme Trial Jury Fails to Reach Agreement

Montreal.—The second trial of Abbe Adolphe Delorme on a charge of murdering his half brother, Raoul, ended in a disagreement of the jury.

Court officials announced the jury split ten for acquittal and two for conviction. No jurymen, however, could be got to confirm these figures.

Asked for a statement on the situation created by the second disagreement of juries in the Delorme case, Crown Prosecutor Calder said: "The prisoner will go back to jail and will be tried again unless the attorney-general enters a plea of nolle prosequi (unwillingness to proceed). Without this the case must be proceeded with until a verdict is reached."

Turkish Women Refused Franchise

Constantinople.—Women have not yet won the vote in Turkey. The National Assembly at Angora adopted the first seventeen articles of the new constitution, but the tenth, which specified that every Turk upon completing his 18th year, was entitled to vote in parliamentary elections was amended, after lively discussion, by insertion of the word male.

M. B. Railway Expenditure

NEED FIGHTING SPIRIT TO DEAL WITH PROBLEMS

Monroe Jay.—Advocating a fighting spirit in dealing with problems in the country which were causing pessimism in much of the country, Professor W. W. Swanson, University of Saskatchewan, urged retail merchants, at a banquet here, to aid in spreading confidence. "Motivate the physical, mental and financial power of the nation, and solve our difficulties," he demanded. "We have the brains. Let Canada make a real national contribution to a more sane and stable world than the present."

Eminent Railway Builders

A unique record of Canadian railway pioneer engineers is embodied in a photograph taken in Vancouver recently of three prominent members of the profession whose record for continued service in the survey and construction of railways is possibly without parallel. They are—reading from left to right: M. J. Cambie, M.E.I.C., eighty-seven years of age; T. M. White, M.E.I.C., seventy-six years of age; and J. H. Kennedy, M.E.I.C., seventy-two years of age. They are all resident in Vancouver.

Each has been identified with one of the three great transcontinental railroads now operating in British Columbia, as chief engineer on the location and construction of the original main lines within the Province, ploughed through the wilderness of mountains, canyons, forests and plains by feats of engineering skill and perseverance not surpassed and scarcely equalled in any other part of the world. Each one is enjoying excellent health, and occupies the very highest place in the respect and esteem of the members of the engineering profession, together with the general public. Another very interesting coincidence lies in the fact that each one possesses the apparently magic name "Henry".

Henry John Cambie, M.E.I.C., was born on October 25th, 1838, in County Tipperary, Ireland. He had charge of the location of the present main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from the Coast to Griffin Lake, and was chief engineer of the world-famous construction through the Fraser Canyon from Yale to Lytton, and also the construction of the section from Savona Ferry to Shuswap Lake.

Mr. Cambie has been continuously associated with the Canadian Pacific Railway and its predecessor, the Government Railway, for sixty-eight years. His name is perpetuated by the station on the Canadian Pacific, Cambie, on the giant loop below

Glacier. Mr. Cambie explored, surveyed and planned the whole course of the Canadian Pacific through a large section of the province of British Columbia, and under his direct supervision the part that runs through the canyons of the Fraser was built. At the age of eighty-seven he is still hale and hearty enjoying the love and esteem of his fellow men.

Thomas Henry White, M.E.I.C., was born on January 27th, 1848, at St. Thomas, Ontario. He was chief engineer of the location and construction of the present main line from the Yellowhead Pass, down the North Thompson and Fraser Canyons to New Westminster. It is interesting to note that he was T. M. Cambie's right-hand assistant during the work in the Fraser Canyon.

T. M. White has always been popular with his fellow engineers, being noted for abundant good nature, keen sense of humor, and an absolute fairness in all his associations.

James Henry Kennedy, M.E.I.C., was born on March 1st, 1848, in Carleton Place, Ontario. He has charge of the location of the main line in British Columbia, under the Vancouver, Victoria and Eastern Railway charter, from Laurier to the Coast. As chief engineer, he built the first section in the Province, from Laurier to Grand Forks, through the Kettle Valley country and afterward constructed the longer section from Chetopa to Brookmere, through the difficult Similkameen and Tulemeen Valleys.

The complete record of the work of each of these pioneer railroaders is full of interesting reminiscences, and the monuments of their handiwork are to be seen in practically every province of the Dominion. Although British Columbians take great pride in the achievements of these men, they nevertheless feel that they belong to Canada, from coast to coast.

THE HOODOOS, JASPER NATIONAL PARK

JASPER PARK LODGE, in Jasper National Park, Alberta, is ideally situated on a convenient center from which to climb mountains, traverse trails and motor roads, or embark on fishing and hunting expeditions; while golf, tennis, boating and bathing are right at the door.

For those who have just a short time to spend in the Park there are miles and miles of motor roads through winding valleys and up mountain grades, along the shores of swift rivers and past quiet lakes, to mountains, glaciers and canyons.

Towering above all other peaks in the vicinity is stately Mount Edith Cavell, its crown of snow reaching a height of 11,500 feet. From Jasper or the Lodge Mount Edith Cavell is in full view, but it is only by travelling the eighteen miles to Lake Cavell, nestled at the foot of the mountain, that one can really see all the wonders of this now famous mountain named for that heroic British nurse, Edith Cavell, heroine of the Great War.

The peculiar formation of a glacier on the side of Mount Edith Cavell adds to the interest of the place. In a cirque between the mountain and the shoulder extending to the north is a hanging glacier covering about a third of a square mile. An ice fall about three hundred feet wide connects this with another glacier five hundred feet below, the irregular shape of which extends along the foot of the cliffs for more than a mile. This mass of ice presents the form of an angel with outstretched wings and has been aptly named "Glacier of the Angel." At another point on the mountain a combination of rock and snow forms what appears to be a side view of the head of a turbaned oriental knight. In photographs taken from Clark Peak this formation is plainly discernible.

The road to Mount Cavell is along the valley of the Athabasca River, across the turbulent Miette River, Whistlers and Portals creeks, continuing across the historical Astoria River, which it follows in a southerly direction at the same time climbing the lower slopes of the mountain and finally reaching the shores of Lake Cavell. Many stops should be made en route to view such interesting features as the natural hoodoos with their flat stone hats just along the slope below the road.

Half an hour by motor from Jasper Park Lodge, with mirror-like lakes reflecting the rugged outlines of forest and mountains for miles, brings one to Medicine Canyon. The scenery along this gradually ascending and winding roadway is unsurpassable. Striking innumerable little lakes, each of a different hue from the light yellow of Ochre Lake to the opal-like coloring of Lake Minnie with its sandy beach for bathing, the road winds round above the Athabasca Valley and thence to Medicine River down to the Canyon.

Following the rocky path of the Medicine River for a short distance one comes to the mouth of the canyon through which great rushes of water have been passing for many hundreds of years wearing away the rocks to a depth of two hundred feet in places. The canyon is a mile and a half long and is so narrow and irregular that in many places it is impossible to see the river flowing along far below. The water enters this huge crevice with a fall of seventy-five feet and goes tumbling through with a sullen roar.

Along the sides of the canyon are huge pot-holes, testifying to the velocity of the water and its erosive quality during the centuries. Near the top are great dents in the rock worn smooth and now covered with moss, and on shelves of rock fifty feet or so below the surface are scraggy, fighting for life with barely a foothold in the rock.

Plainly discernible from the rustic bridge built across the canyon so that the falls and river below may be viewed with safety, are stretches of rock wall beautifully variegated, and where the river cannot be seen in the dark cavern below it sends its rushing message in its rap.

The mystery of Medicine Lake and the subterranean stream that joins the river below Medicine Canyon is intensely interesting and the rock formations around the lake is well worth the journey of ten miles from the Canyon to see.

Canada's most northerly national park is fast becoming one of the most popular playgrounds of the Dominion and every tourist who visits there becomes an ardent admirer.

Schooner Taken North On High

Five-Ton Vessel Arrives at Reindeer Lake in Saskatchewan

After an overland haul on sledges of over 500 miles, the H.E.C. schooner, Leif du Brechet, arrived safely at the southern end of Reindeer Lake in Northern Saskatchewan. This vessel was built here by the Alberta Motor Boat Company and was shipped from Edmonton on December 1st to Prince Albert. Here the boat—which weighs five tons—was loaded on a sleigh and with eight teams of horses attached started on her long journey north over the rough trails to the lake, where she arrived without a scratch. TEETHING TROUBLES

Baby's teething time is a time of worry and anxiety to most mothers. The little ones become cross; peevish; their little stomachs become deranged and constipation and colic set in. To make the teething period easy on baby the stomach and bowels must be kept sweet and regular. This can be done by the use of Baby's Own Tablets—the ideal laxative for little ones. The Tablets are a sure relief for all the minor ailments of childhood such as constipation, colic, indigestion, colds and simple fevers. They always do good—never harm. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rub it in for Lame Back.—A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in, the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that it is an excellent article.

Narrowly Escaped Death

When the closed automobile in which they were riding was struck by a train at Walkerville recently, J. Burke escaped through a hole torn in the roof of the car, while the automobile was being dragged 25 feet, and Frank O'Brien jumped to safety through the door of the car, which was thrown open by the crash.

It will Prevent Ulcerated Throat.—At the first symptoms of sore throat, which presages ulceration and inflammation, take a spoonful of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Add a little sugar to it to make it palatable. It will allay the irritation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that are so painful. Those who were periodically subject to quinsy have thus made themselves immune to attack.

Discovered By Doctor

Was Pioneer in Introducing Tobacco in Europe

Every man who smokes owes a debt of gratitude to Francisco Fernandez. The commencement of the use of tobacco by civilized people has been traced back to its introduction in Europe by that celebrated physician. Fernandez was sent by King Philip Second of Spain to investigate the products of Mexico. As a result of his explorations Francisco Fernandez took the tobacco plant to Europe in 1568, for the first time on record. The use of tobacco in England dates from 1584 and the name of Sir Walter Raleigh is associated with its introduction there.

At first the plant was supposed to possess almost miraculous healing powers, and the poet Spencer called it "divine tobacco." Millions of people since those days have walked that tobacco is "a sweetener" of their lot in life and a great equalizer of the temper.

Mutton and Macaroni

Preparing An Appetizing Dish From Cold Mutton Scraps

When the cold mutton has lasted so long that the housewife dreads putting it again before her family, let her try it under this guise. Cut the cold meat into cubes. To two cups of meat have one cup of cooked macaroni, two cups of tomato sauce, one cup of cracker crumbs, two tablespoons of butter, salt and pepper. In a well buttered enameled ware dish put a layer of macaroni, bread crumbs and tomato sauce, then a layer of mutton with bits of butter, pepper and salt. Alternate until the pan is filled. Sprinkle bread crumbs on top with enough egg butter to brown them. Serve in the dish in which it is cooked. This is one of the many advantages of enameled ware bake dishes—they are always presentable at table as well as useful in the kitchen.

I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the first treatment stopped the itching and after using five cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." Irish As It Is

Improvement in General Tone of the People is Noted

In picture of Irish life at the present time would be true were the fact people not noted. There is a cheerfulness which did not exist three months ago. People have begun to talk again about the ordinary affairs of life. The gloom has largely gone. Laughter is more frequent. You can see the change in the street, in the theatre, in the home.

Another great improvement is that even the staunchest patriot is now not perfectly certain that the Irish are the greatest race in the world. There are doubts even in the demagogues as to whether liberty is all that it was supposed to be. We even stop sometimes to wonder what is liberty. In other words, our political education has begun.—From the Round Table.

Eclipse of the Sun

About One Total Eclipse Occurs in Every Two Years

About one total eclipse of the sun occurs in every two years, but the phase of totality is so short—usually two or three minutes and never as much as eight minutes—that the aggregate time it can be visible over the small sections of the earth shadowed is only eight days in a century. The beautiful and significant phenomena presented are studied at a greater cost in effort and money than anything else on footing. Prof. S. A. Mitchell mentions that he has traveled more than 40,000 miles to witness four of these eclipses, and the total time for scientific observations was less than eleven minutes.

Here and There

The Canadian Pacific countrywide tour "Red" has carried from the seven plants operating on Saturday some over 12,000 tons of salt having since the present season opened in November. This represents almost half the season's output, which will approximate 25,000 tons.

The heaviest local frost in Canada experienced during the last ten years is looked for this year. Already the arrivals are running ahead of those for the same months in 1923, those from Europe's countries being especially large. The enquiries from prospective settlers in the United States are numerous.

Canada exported 5,902 pairs of leather footwear during January, 1924, according to a report of the Bureau of Statistics. Of these 2,170 went to the United States, 2,033 to New Zealand and 2,031 to China and Japan. Bermuda, the Straits Settlements and Newfoundland took the rest. The value was $21,301.

Canadians imported 3,527,547 pounds of tea last month, or about three-fifths of a pound per head of population. The value of last month's tea imports was $1,051,176, and for the twelve months ending January 31, the value of the imports was $12,253,642. The bulk of it came from India.

Special trains of immigrants have recently carried lunch counter cars similar to those used on the harvesters' trains last summer. It is understood that the Canadian Pacific has incorporated this as a feature of all long distance immigrant trains thus doing away with the necessity of the newcomers providing their own food or using station lunch counters or canteens.

The completion of plans for the development of hydro-electric power during the current year will add 300,000 h.p. to the present total of 1,228,000 h.p., already installed in Canada. This additional power will be used in British Columbia to assist mining and pulp industries in Manitoba to supply rural needs, and in Ontario for gold-mining and other industries. In Quebec the chief developments are in connection with the pulp and paper industries, and farther east, in the Maritime Provinces, for public utility purposes.

There is every indication that the death of the domestic servant in Canada will be greatly relieved in the course of the coming few months. Miss Esther Michie, head of the Women's branch, Colonization department, Canadian Pacific Railway, London, announces that "Specially selected parties of domestic servants are being organized under the Empire Settlements Act in conjunction with the Canadian Government for the convenience to Montreal and in Western Canada."

One of the most attractive features of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition, Wembley, will be the illuminated exterior panels, and the New Lighting effect, similar to that used at the Coliseum, London, which is wonderfully penetrating and effective under all atmospheric conditions. The interior of the building displays, through working models and magnificent oil and water color paintings, the many ramifications of the great transportation system as well as the natural resources of this country.

According to E. N. Todd, freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway the year 1924 will be a banner one as regards foreign capital coming into the country. "During the year 1923 a number of silk manufacturers from England and the United States decided to locate in Canada, and from present indications this particular movement is only in its infancy. At the present time our industrial department is in correspondence with a very large number of manufacturers who are seriously considering locating in Canada."
